MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): In the 2nd District, U.S. Rep. Bill HUIZENGA (R-Zeeland) swatted Democrat Dr. Rob DAVIDSON in the most competitive West Michigan congressional district in Huizenga captured the population bases in Ottawa and Muskegon while Davidson managed support in some of the district's smaller counties.

The emergency room doctor managed to raise around $1 million and benefited from the Michigan Democratic Party making an issue about Huizenga's use of campaign funds to buy expensive meals in out-of-state vacation locations like DisneyWorld.

Huizenga found himself on his heels defending his support to eliminate the Affordable Care Act (ACA), instead, he looked for ways to change the conversation to one about the country's improving economy and preserving local economic drivers like the S.S. Badger coal-fired ferry from Ludington to Wisconsin.

In the 3rd District, U.S. Rep. Justin AMASH (R-Cascade Twp.) survived a deteriorating Republican brand in Kent and Calhoun counties to win a fifth term in Congress. The libertarian-leaning Amash managed to genuinely separate himself from Trump and Republican leadership while Democratic opponent Cathy ALBRO struggled with raising funds.

Without the attention of the Democratic Congressional Committee, the Middleville owner of an education-focused childcare center found herself often left to her own devices.

MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): In the 6th District, U.S. Rep. Fred UPTON (R-St. Joseph) withstood a spirited challenge from former YMCA Medical Director Matt LONGJOHN, whose use of his medical doctorate degree during the campaign became an issue.

Upton's narrow win over the Democrat was his closest-ever General Election margin. Prior to his election, Democrat Mike O'BRIEN had come to the closest with an 11.98 percent margin in 2012.

Longjohn is not licensed to practice in medicine in Michigan, but used imagery during the campaign that suggested he saw patients as part of his job. His background is on the administrative side (See "Longjohn Heralds Legal Defense For 'MD' Title; Complaint Against Him Filed," 10/5/18).

Upton had flirted with running for the U.S. Senate for much of 2017 before opting to run for re-election. Like Walberg, Upton made opioid reform legislation a centerpiece of his campaign, but unlike Walberg, Upton is a member of the bipartisan Problem Solvers Caucus.

The win means the former U.S. House Energy and Commerce Committee chair will serve a 17th term in Congress, making him the most senior member of the Michigan delegation with the retirement of U.S. Rep.
Tim Walberg (R-Tipton)
Member, Energy and Commerce

MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): In the 7th District, conservative U.S. Rep. Tim WALBERG (R-Tipton) found himself singing from the hymnal of bipartisanship after the primary for in his second straight victory over Gretchen DRISKELL.

Walberg, 67, will serve his sixth term in Congress representing the Eaton County-to-Monroe County district on the back of strong support in the district's Ohio border counties.

Driskell, 59, the former two-term House member and Saline mayor, picked up strong support in Eaton, Jackson and her home Washtenaw County. Her defeat... was closer than the 15-point margin Walberg beat her by in 2016 when Trump polled strong in the 7th.

A variation of this district was last represented by a Democrat in 2009-10, when Mark SCHAUER unseated Walberg for a term during the Obama wave election year.

Estimated Democratic Base = 52.61%
Former two-term state representative (2011-2014), former member, Kalamazoo County Commission (2001-2010)
Gongwer Analysis (November 6, 2018): Democrats scored big in flipping the 20th Senate District that narrowly slipped through their fingers four years ago, with former Kalamazoo Rep. Sean McCann defeating Sen. Margaret O'Brien (R-Portage) in an expensive rematch of a seat the Democrats had to have if they wanted to make significant Senate gains Tuesday. Mr. | First | Kalamazoo County |
McCann had 53.1 percent of the vote and Ms. O’Brien had 42.3 percent, according to unofficial results with all precincts reporting.

After heavy spending and a major effort, securing the pickup of this seat is a huge relief for Democrats as this seat was a top priority target that has evaded them for years. The power of incumbency, ability to work across the aisle and her involvement in several major legislative initiatives in the current term were not enough in the end to secure a second Senate term.

MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): After losing by a mere 61 votes in 2014, former Rep. Sean McCANN toppled Sen. Margaret O’BRIEN in one of the state’s most competitive elections. With 100 percent of precincts reporting, McCann won 53 to 42 percent. Libertarian Lorence WENKE received 5 percent.

The mild-mannered former city commissioner benefited from a district that is trending strong in the Democrats’ direction.

O’Brien, the driving force behind expanding the statute of limitations on sexual assault in the face of the Larry NASSAR scandal at Michigan State University, got some survivors to appear on TV ads for her. Her visibility in passing a three-foot passing halo for bicyclists and quickly delivering bottled water to Parchment Township after their municipal water tested high for PFAS buttressed her support and showed she was a hard-working public servant.

Former two-term state representative (2015-Present), US Army Veteran, National Guard, helicopter pilot

Gongwer Analysis (November 6, 2018): Republicans held on to traditionally conservative ground in the 24th Senate District as Rep. Tom Barrett (R-Potterville) emerged from an expensive and tougher-than-expected battle waged by former public relations firm owner and Delta Township Democrat Kelly Rossman-McKinney. With 76 percent of precincts reporting Mr. Barrett had 53.2 percent of the vote and Ms. Rossman-McKinney 44.3 percent.

Mr. Barrett was able to defend turf that usually is strongly Republican from a staunch challenge from Ms. Rossman-McKinney, who was able to raise significant money, push a message of bipartisanship and force Senate Republicans to spend big money defending a district that in the past has not needed such a level of defense.

MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): Rep. Tom BARRETT (R-Potterville) used his relentless door-knocking operation and unquestioned conservative credentials to succeed Sen. Rick JONES (R-Grand Ledge).

Barrett, a helicopter pilot for the Michigan Army National Guard, polled strong in Eaton County and rural parts of the district. His selling points were his ability to pass bi-partisan bills, which he sold on TVs to...
He outpolled public relations professional Kelly ROSSMAN-McKINNEY, who turned in an impressive effort in this mid-Michigan district with a fundraising operation so strong the SDF didn't need to open its wallet here to make her competitive.

Rossman-McKinney and her supporters were up on TV early and often, putting Rep. Tom BARRETT (R-Potterville) immediately on his heels after a primary in which he was bludgeoned with negative ads from the state’s public utilities.
