Huizenga captured the population bases in Ottawa and Muskegon while Davidson managed support in some of the district's smaller counties.

The emergency room doctor managed to raise around $1 million and benefited from the Michigan Democratic Party making an issue about Huizenga's use of campaign funds to buy expensive meals in out-of-state vacation locations like DisneyWorld.

Huizenga found himself on his heels defending his support to eliminate the Affordable Care Act (ACA). Instead, he looked for ways to change the conversation to one about the country's improving economy and preserving local economic drivers like the S.S. Badger coal-fired ferry from Ludington to Wisconsin.

		HOW THIS DISTRICT COMPARES TO OTHERS  MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): In the 3rd District, U.S. Rep. Justin AMASH (R-Cascade Twp.) survived a deteriorating Republican brand in Kent and Calhoun counties to win a fifth term in Congress. The libertarian-leaning Amash managed to genuinely separate himself from Trump and Republican leadership while Democratic opponent Cathy ALBRO struggled with raising funds. Without the attention of the Democratic Congressional Committee, the Middleville owner of an education-focused childcare center found herself often left to her own devices.		Vergennes Township Montcalm County (part) Eureka Township Greenville city (part)

Winnie Brinks (D-Grand Rapids) winning the 29th Senate District seat, taking down Rep. Chris Afendoulis (R-Grand Rapids Township). Ms. Brinks had taken 56 percent of the vote while Mr. Afendoulis had 41 percent according to unofficial results with 100 percent of precincts reporting. Ms. Brinks ran a strong campaign in district that appeared for months to be trending her way with strong Democratic enthusiasm giving her a boost over Mr. Afendoulis, whose late boost of funding from Senate Republicans was not enough to stem the tide. MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): Rep. Winnie BRINKS became the Democrats' first state senator from Grand Rapids since 1982 by pulling away from Chris AFENDOULIS. In a district in which both caucuses seemed to give up on fairly early, Afendoulis tried to snap out of the perception that he was a "dead man walking" by raising more than $750,000 to promote himself as a pragmatic,	First	Kent County (part) Ada Township Bowne Township Caledonia Township Cascade Township East Grand Rapids city Grand Rapids city Grand Rapids Township Lowell city Lowell Township

		fiscally prudent accountant with family roots in the local dry-cleaning business. But Brinks generated oodles of earning media by taking advantage of the appearance that the Legislature was stuck in neutral on doing anything about the growing number of PFAS contamination sites in West Michigan.

Jon Bumstead of Newaygo appears to have kept the 34th Senate District in the GOP column Tuesday and was expected to defeat Muskegon Democrat Poppy Sias-Hernandez after being locked in a vigorous and expensive fight down to the wire. Although with 73 percent of precincts reporting Mr. Bumstead only had 46.7 percent of the vote to Ms. Sias-Hernandez' 50.3 percent, a large portion of the remaining precincts were in conservative Newaygo County and Democrats were expecting the result to shift toward Mr. Bumstead.	First	Muskegon County Newaygo County Oceana County

		Mr. Bumstead was expected to keep the Republican-leaning district in GOP hands with the help of significant Senate Republican campaign contributions, heavy advertising and extensive retail politics. Ms. Sias-Hernandez had similar backing from the Democrats in a dogfight of a race while building a strong brand for herself in the district, but it was not enough to get over the top. MIRS Analysis (November 6, 2018): Former Rep. Jon BUMSTEAD, a longtime home construction contractor from the Newaygo area, gutted out a win over insurgent Democratic candidate Poppy SIAS-HERNANDEZ, with a strong performance in his home Newaygo County and nearby Oceana County. The conservative Bumstead also survived a contentious Republican primary over deep-pocketed Rep. Holly HUGHES (R-Montague). Sias-Hernandez had one of the more robust volunteer door-knocking armies this cycle as she connected with rural voters outside of her Muskegon base. Her team, at one point, included former Rep. Collene LAMONTE, the person Sias-Hernandez beat in the primary.
